over the past few years, the pokkén series has become an international phenomenon, with the pokkén tour international tournaments allowing pokkén enthusiasts from every continent to compete with one another. from sports events in japan to huge competitions in france, players from all over the world celebrate this extreme form of competitive play. the series of pokkén have become an integral part of the pokkén community, and helped cultivate a passionate and devoted fanbase. after the 13th pokkén, players have been awaiting the next installment of pokkén and now that new installment is here! not only is the pokkén tournament dx the culmination of all the energy that has been built up over the past few years, but it features an unrivaled level of new gameplay as well as a special, interactive stage for the pokkén arcade. it truly is a blast to play, and i'm hoping they add more events, more online tournaments, and maybe even a network online tournament. there is a pokecommunity group, but it's not terribly active. personally, i'd love to see nintendo expand this whole to online battling to reach a wider audience. kids have access to the internet for some reason, so why not use it? the battle feature itself is described as follows: "a slightly-above-average battle system for pokemon fans, the multi-turn system presented in pokemon colosseum makes an appearance. with the game's many different stadium environments comes the ability to choose your battle from a variety of locations. in the various stadia, you can view the rules and conditions the teams will be fighting under, choose your pokemon, and enter the stadium to battle. in many ways, the gameplay feels the same, but the 3-d visual has a slight advantage.
