They asked us to reinvent creative tools that would enable them to make work faster and bring new ideas into reality." With Share for Review, Photoshop gives everyone the chance to contribute to a project simultaneously, without leaving Photoshop. The process is completely collaborative, without the hassle of leaving Photoshop.

Michael: "With Share for Review, I found the perfect place to share my work while editing. It is quick and easy to invite others to work on the panel, and the track and grid view lets me zoom in and share different layers on the panel without losing track of the whole thing. I also love that it is so much easier to position people in the panel to ensure that everyone can see the edit and sharing themselves."
